

SHIPS WRECKED BY GALE.

Three Lake Superior Steamers Are Driven Ashore.

Fort Witsam, Ont., Nov. 19.—In the terrific gale which has raged on Lake Superior for two days the Canadian steamer Theano, Captain Geo. Pearson, Sunday struck a rock four miles east of Thunder Cape, and was wrecked. The American steamer Philip Finch, and the Canadian steamer Strathcona, were also blown ashore during the storm and the former may be a total loss. The crews of all three steamers are safe.

When the Theano struck, the wind was blowing 50 miles an hour, and the blinding snow caused the ship to run north of the entrance to Thunder Bay. The steamer struck bow-on and the stern swung around against the rocks, crushing in the steel sides of the ship. The crew, numbering twenty, remained on the vessel for two hours after they struck, but they were compelled to take to the lifeboats for safety. A few moments after the crew had abandoned the ship the boilers exploded and the shattered hull slid off the rock into deep water.

Almost overcome by exposure, ten members of the Theano's crew reached Port Arthur Sunday, after being buffeted about by the storm for half a day in an open boat. The lifeboat in which the remaining half of the crew had sought safety was picked up by the steamer Iraquais, which brought the men here.

The Theano was a steel steamer, at 1,646 tons and was valued at $80,000. It was owned by the Algoma Central Railway company and was bound for Fort William with a cargo of steel rails.

No Case of Pneumonia on Record.

We do not know of a single instance where a cough or cold resulted in pneumonia or consumption when Foley's Honey and Tar had been taken. It cures coughs and colds perfectly, so do not take chances with some unknown preparation which may contain opiates, which cause consumption, a condition that retards recovery from a cold. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered. J. W. McCollum & Co.

DELIRIUM TREMENS.

Cause and Symptoms of a Dreadful Disease From Alcohol.

The conclusive symptom of chronic inebriety is delirium tremens, "the horrors," says Mr. Hillburn. None but the true inebriate gets it, and most inebriates get it sooner or later, though some escape the actual delirium that is its typical feature. It must not be confused with alcoholic insanity, the violent dementia brought on in some persons by amounts of alcohol often too small to cause intoxication. True delirium tremens is literally the result of soaking. It comes on when the tissues are saturated with alcohol. Usually it appears at the end of a long spree, or, in the case of a steady drinker, when he has been taking more than his usual allowance. But as alcohol remains in the tissues from three to eight days, the delirium may develop some time after the spree, whereupon the victim usually ascribes it to the fact that he gave up alcohol and took to water. It is a state of collapse, insomnia, trembling, acute terror and usually violent delirium, which lasts from two to five days. "Menagerie delirium," the vision of violet mice and iridescent snakes, generally supposed to prevail, is not very common, snakes being rarer than other animals.

The ordinary delirium centers about the usual occupation of the patient. Its violence can be judged by the degree to which his visions are independent of his will, and by the terror they cause him. A teamster, for instance, usually drives horses in his delirium. If they obey him, he will get well, but if they back against his orders or bolt, he is thrown into a state of extreme terror and is pretty certain to die. The delusions of a first attack are always terrifying, but in later recurrences the experienced drinker is often aware of his condition and watches his own hallucinations with a sort of impersonal amusement. The supposedly harmless malt liquors are slower in bringing on delirium tremens than whisky, but usually bring on uglier attacks. Contrary to general opinion, they are responsible for a considerable share of the inebriety of this country. Some years ago Dr. Charles L. Dana, at that time visiting physician to Bellevue hospital, recorded the form of liquor used by nearly 200 inebriate patients. A third drank whisky, nearly a third beer and whisky and a quarter malt liquors altogether. The rest took anything that contained alcohol. There are virtually no wine drinking inebriates in this country.—American Magazine.

Generosity.

Never be sorry for any generous thing that you ever did, even if it was betrayed. Never be sorry that you were magnanimous if the man was mean afterward. Never be sorry that you gave. It was right for you to give even if you were imposed upon. You cannot afford to keep on the safe side by being mean.

Backache, "The Blues"

Both Symptoms of Organic Derangement
Women—Thousands of Sufferers Find Relief

How often do we hear women say: "It seems as though my back would break," or "Don't speak to me, I am all out of sorts"? These significant remarks prove that the system requires attention.

Backache and "the blues" are direct symptoms of an inward trouble which will sooner or later declare itself. It may be caused by diseased kidneys or some derangement of the organs. Nature requires assistance and at once, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound instantly asserts its curative powers in all those peculiar ailments of women. It has been the standby of intelligent American women for twenty years, and the best judges agree that it is the most universally successful remedy for woman's ills known to medicine.

Read the convincing testimonials of Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Cotrely.

Mrs. J. C. Holmes, of Larimore, North Dakota, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"I have suffered everything with backache and female trouble—I let the trouble run on until my system was in such a condition that I was unable to be about, and then it was I commenced to use Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If I had only known how much suffering I would have saved I should have taken it months sooner—for a few weeks' treatment made me well and strong. My backaches and headaches are all gone and I suffer no pain at my monthly periods, whereas before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I suffered intense pain."

Mrs. Emma Cotrely, 109 East 12th Street, New York City, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"I feel it my duty to tell all suffering women of the relief I have found in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."
